Description

The doctoral school of Hungarology Studies covers the research areas of philology (language and literature, journalism, ethnology) for studies in Hungarian language at University Babeş-Bolyai Cluj-Napoca. The professors of the doctoral school belong to the Department of Hungarian Literature, to the Department of Hungarian and General Linguistics and to the Department of Hungarian Ethnography and Anthropology as well as to the Department of Journalism and Political Sciences (Faculty of Political, Administrative and Communication Sciences). Visiting professors of the school are specialists in these fields. The doctoral school promotes interdisciplinary and intercultural dialogues and cooperates with scientific institutes in the domain (Hungarian Academy of Sciences, Transylvanian Museum Society and others) and with others doctoral schools and scientific circles.

The members of the council of the doctoral school are: prof. Vilmos Keszeg, PhD., prof. Emese Egyed, PhD., Prof. Mihály Balázs PhD. The doctoral students' articles and theses can be found in accredited scientific journals as Erdélyi Tudományos Füzetek, Emberek és kontextusok, [ME.DOC], Erdélyi Múzeum, Nyelv- és Irodalomtudományi Közlemények, Irodalomtörténeti füzetek.
